Overview

Over the past few years, HCL has set the pace for the industry by pioneering Value Centricity and Employee First - a focus that has been a key ingredient of our continued leadership. Towards the end of 2007, we promised to continue this transformation journey, and enhance it by way of Collaboration. The quarter under review, once again witnesses results owing to the strong foundation laid with Collaborative Transformation as a way of doing business.

“The HCL strategy embodying a unique kind of disruptive innovation in its business model focusing on Value Centricity and internal organization focused on Employee First has resulted in deepening customer relationships and strategic partnerships where there is collaboration, goal alignment and substantive engagement”, said Shiv Nadar, Chairman & Chief Strategy Officer, HCL Technologies.

“HCL continues its leadership in winning large transformational deals with this quarter closing deals worth US$ 500 mn. Our Blue Ocean approach to business continues to pay rich dividends, this quarter being fourth consecutive for margin expansion and fifth consecutive with declining attrition. HCL’s Global Services partnership with SAP and strategic acquisition of Capital Stream are some specific steps we have taken towards enhancing value and accelerating growth for our customers,” said Vineet Nayar, CEO, HCL Technologies.

“This was a quarter of consolidation for the BPO Division. We managed to sustain our profitability in spite of the various pressures on margins. Attrition was one of the lowest during this quarter, and there was a net head count addition of 1374 employees during this quarter”, said Ranjit Narasimhan, President & CEO, HCL Technologies-BPO Services.

Business Highlights

HCL continues to demonstrate growth in revenues and expansion in margins while showing a decline in the attrition rates over the past few quarters as illustrated in the graphs below

Key Catalysts for Growth

- The growth in the US geography for HCL has been consistent over the last two quarters, and trend continues in this quarter as well. This is in addition to geographies like Europe that continues its steady performance
- Engineering & R&D services (ERS), Infrastructure services, Custom Applications witnessed accelerated growth, reaffirming HCL's dominant market position in these service lines
- Over the last four quarters, HCL has witnessed growth in Life Sciences, Financial Services, Hi - tech & Manufacturing and Media Publishing & Entertainment verticals
- The traction from existing large customers maintains its momentum in this quarter as well, which is reflected in the company average growth rate
